Jeffery Cross Joins Today's GC Editorial Advisory Board

CHICAGO –April 2, 2014 – Jeffery M. Cross, a noted antitrust attorney and a partner in the Litigation Practice Group at Freeborn & Peters LLP, has accepted an invitation to join the Editorial Advisory Board of Today's General Counsel, a leading publisher of news and information for the senior-level in-house legal community.

"Today's GC is an excellent resource for in-house counsel who seek updates on timely developments in the legal and regulatory arenas," Cross said. "I am honored to have been asked to join the publication's Editorial Advisory Board."

In his role, Cross will regularly share his thought leadership with the publication's readership through a series of columns. He has been a frequent contributor to Today's GC, writing on a variety of issues related to antitrust and competition. He also teaches antitrust law and business franchise law at The John Marshall Law School in Chicago.

"For Today's General Counsel, we gain the respect and credibility that comes with having accomplished lawyers like Mr. Cross on our Board," stated a representative from the publication.

Cross has nearly 40 years of extensive trial experience representing a variety of corporations and businesses throughout the country on antitrust, securities fraud, contract, real estate, environmental regulations, libel and slander, false advertising, commercial code and trade regulation issues. He graduated cum laude with an undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois at Chicago and received his Juris Doctor from Syracuse University College of Law, where he graduated magna cum laude.
